Paradise City Group (Brussels) Internship 2027
Marketing Intern

We're looking for marketing interns to join the Paradise City Group team as we prepare for our festivals in the summer of 2027. If you have a passion for music and a background in marketing or event management, this is your chance to work behind the scenes at one of the greenest electronic music festivals in the world, and at the other festivals in our family.

We are looking for someone with

- Drive and ambition to work behind the scenes of a festival.
- A strong understanding of today's music scene, electronic and beyond, and of social media dynamics.
- Enthusiasm to learn more about marketing strategies, graphic design, ticketing, paid ads and more.
- Basic knowledge of Canva, Photoshop, Illustrator & Google Analytics is a plus.

Duration and commitment

We are looking for interns to join us between February and July 2027, with flexibility on the exact start and end date. We ask for a minimum commitment of three months, with the possibility of extension to ensure you are with us during and shortly after our festival season. Ideally, your internship covers the run-up to and including Paradise City (July 2 to 4). Three to five days a week, with at least two days at the office per week required.

This is a paid or unpaid internship, depending on the profile. Compensation depends on previous experience and availability. Successful collaboration can lead to long-term opportunities.

Our team

We are a multilingual team (with Dutch, French and English speakers) operating from Brussels. You will work closely with the core team on the marketing and communication strategy for Paradise City 2027, as well as Jazz Middelheim 2027 and Paradies Garten 2027.

The details of this internship are open for negotiation. Please email your résumé and a motivation letter explaining why you would be a good fit to jobs@paradisecity.be.
